

Dear Recruiter or Hiring Manager,

I am writing to you with the purpose of expressing my interest in changing careers and entering the field of programming. As an architect with a background in design and project planning, I have come to appreciate the technical and analytical skills required in software development and programming.

Throughout my professional career as an architect, I have worked on projects that have involved the use of specialized software and have had the opportunity to familiarize myself with some basic programming languages. These encounters have aroused my curiosity and have led me to explore the world of programming in a self-taught way.

Over the past few months, I've invested time and effort into learning more about programming through online courses, tutorials, and personal projects. I have acquired knowledge in languages such as JavaScript implementing technologies such as React and having knowledge in HTML and CSS, I have explored web development, data manipulation and algorithmic problem solving. I have found that I greatly enjoy the creative and challenging process of writing code and building working solutions.

Also, programming offers a constantly evolving field that appeals to me. I am excited for the opportunity to work in a dynamic and collaborative environment, where I can continue to learn and grow professionally. I believe that my design skills, ability to solve problems, and detailed approach, acquired during my architecture career, are transferable and can bring significant value to the field of programming.

Although my previous professional experience is in the field of architecture, I am convinced that my passion for programming, my commitment to continuous learning, and my ability to quickly adapt to new challenges will allow me to succeed in this career change.

I would greatly appreciate the opportunity to discuss how I can contribute to your organization as a programmer. I am willing to face new challenges and work hard to achieve the goals of the team. I have attached my resume for your review and consideration.

I sincerely appreciate your time and consideration. I am excited about the prospect of exploring a new career in programming and I am confident that I can make a successful transition. I look forward to speaking with you in an interview to further discuss how my experience and skills can be applied in the field of programming.

Sincerely,
Yerlin Rojas.
